The Torch . . .

. . . traditionally a symbol of wisdom and knowledge . . .

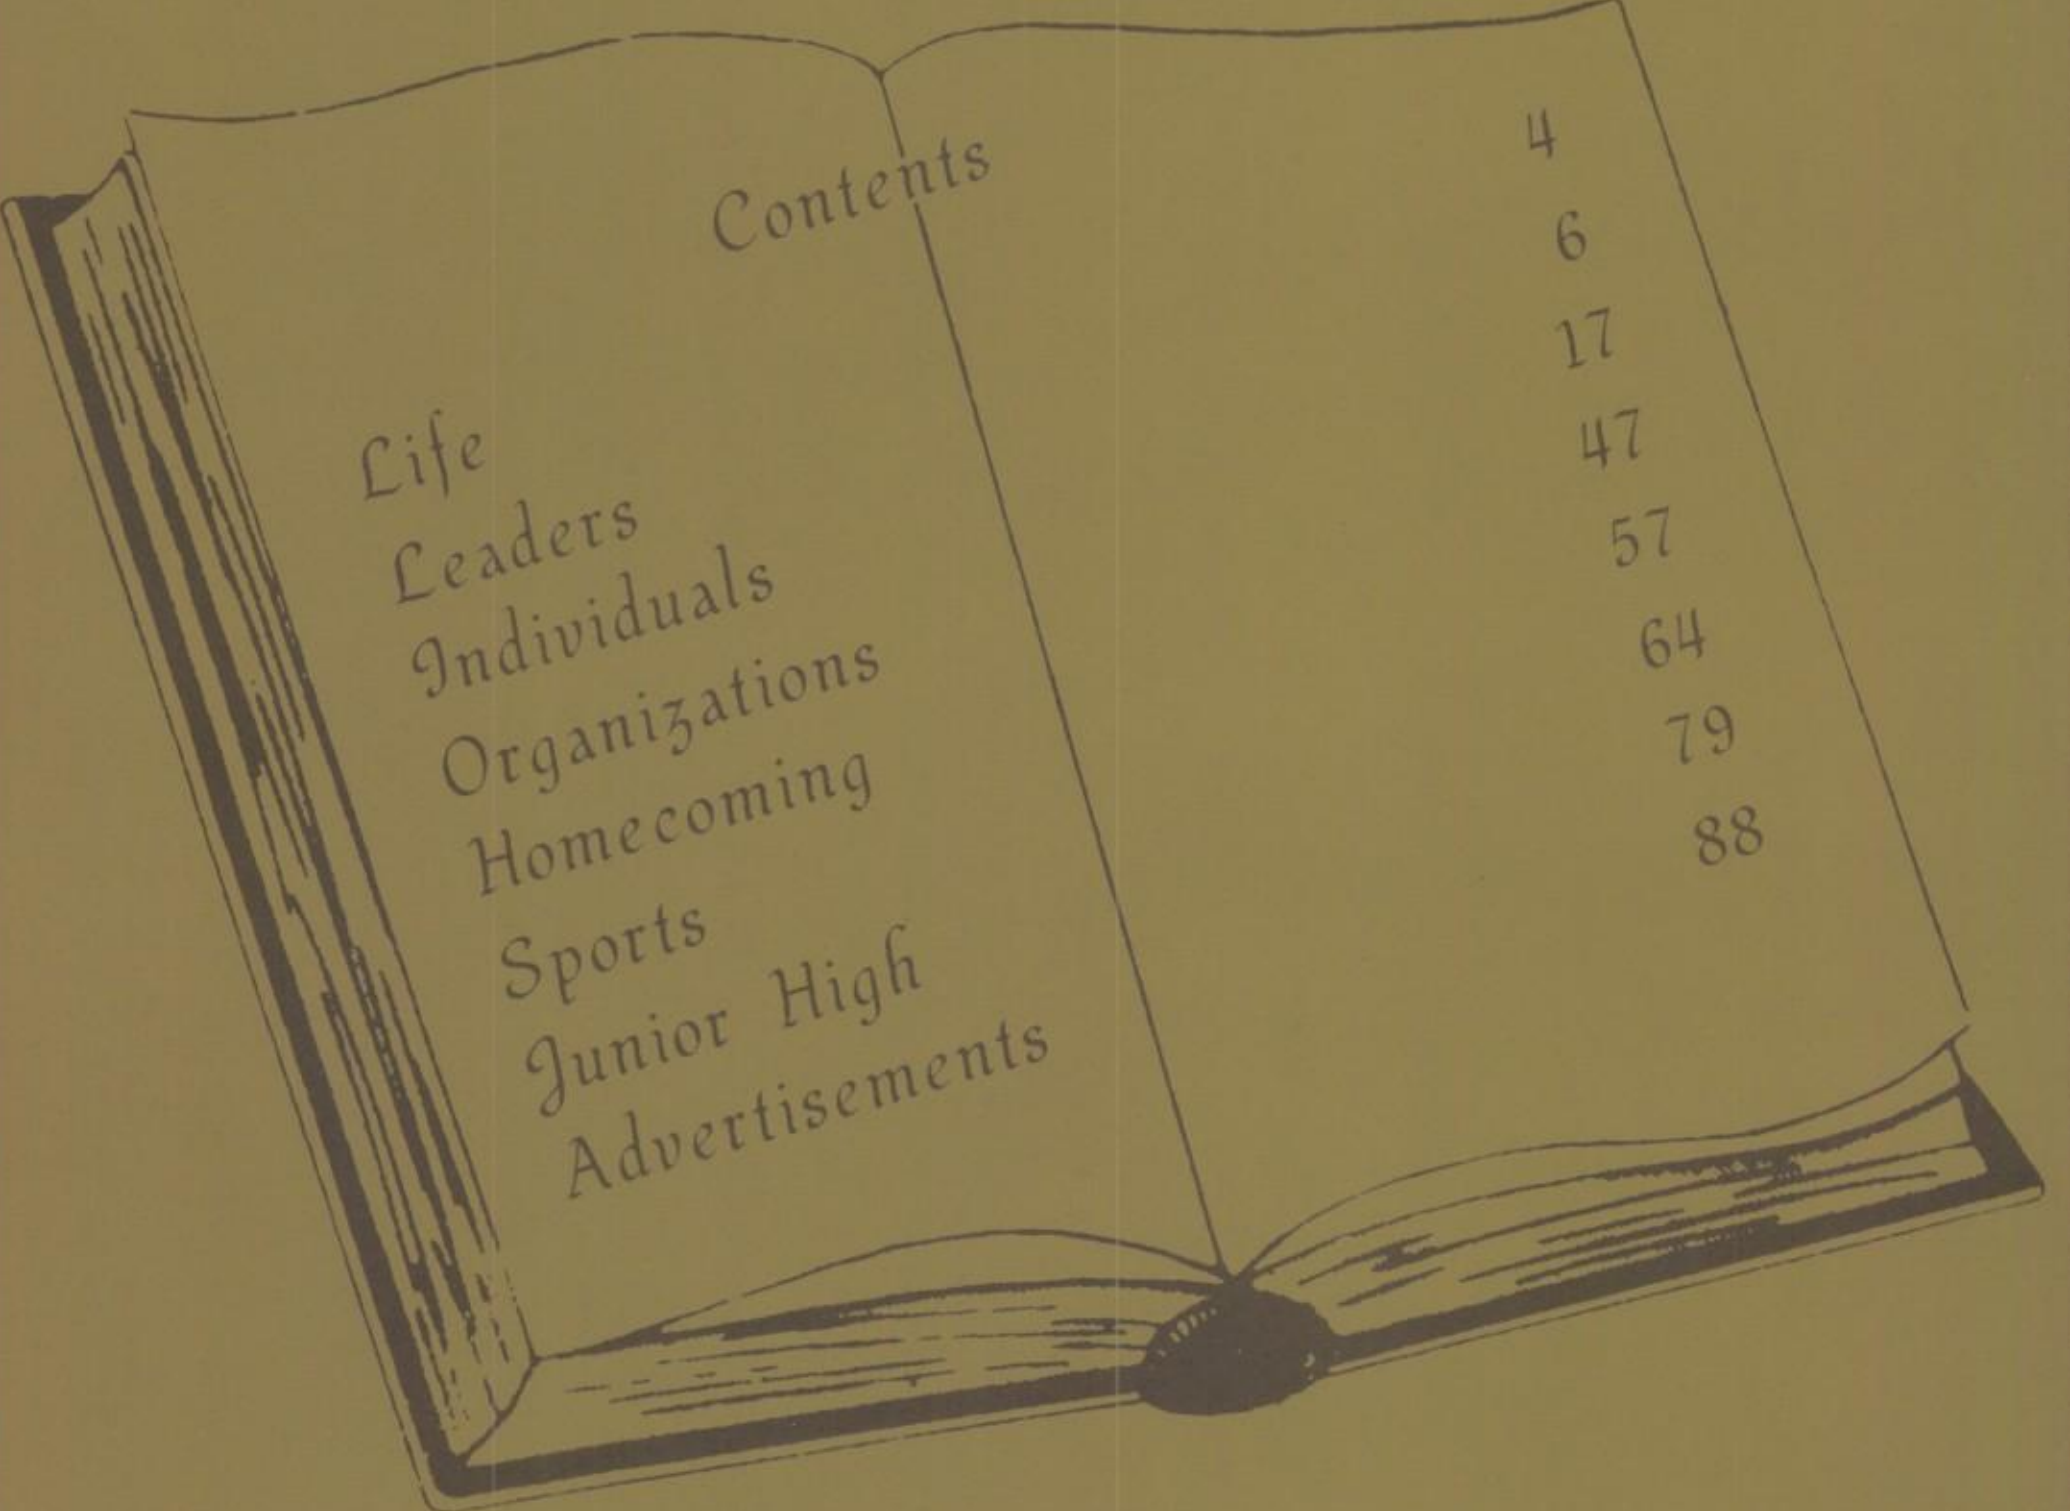

. . . a guide in that search which recurs in every generation . . . the goal is to understand life and its leaders . . . the individual as well as the group . . . to recognize the aspects of beauty and to experience the strength of unity.

Leaders

"Let there be grave dignity in him who has the oversight of them and they will show him respect; let him be seen to be kindly in disposition and they will be loyal to him; let him promote those who have ability, and see to the instruction of those who have it not, and they will be willing to be led."

- Confucius

Administration

"Please accept my sincere congratulations for your accomplishments. The record of attainment you have achieved is worth. I am sure that your future will be positive as you continue to strive for active participation in the citizenship of the world."

Individuals

I am an individual separate from all others.
I must live my own life and not be dependent on those around me.
I exist in a world of my own
 for no two people can be alike.
I have the right to make my own decisions without going along with the crowd.
I can see rare beauty in an autumn leaf
 while it is only a leaf to others.
I can face the future with hope when others are uncertain about tomorrow.
I can know the reality of God-
 when others cry that their god is dead.
I can prepare for eternity
 while others cannot see beyond the grave.
All this I can do,
 because I am an individual.

Planning For
The Future

Wild Ducks at Phosphate Operations

Texas Gulf designed and constructed its Phosphate Operations at Lee Creek long before ecology became a popular cause.

Nevertheless, the Company has its own high standards to uphold and spend more than 6½ million dollars for the installation of the most modern air and water pollution control systems available. The operation of the pollution control equipment alone cost $700 a day.

By planning ahead, fish and a variety of wild ducks swim in the mill reservoir, and each winter swans — sometimes over 500 — line the Pamlico River shore along the plant site.

Yes, Texas Gulf is proud of its achievements in environmental control and pledges its continued support in planning for a better future for all.
